If I Were a Farmer.
If I were a farmer I would keep at hand a few reliable medicines for minor ailments that are not so serious as to require the attention of a physician, such as Chamberlain's Cough and Diarrhoea Remedy for bowel complaints.
Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for coughs, colds and croup.
Chamberlain's Liniment for sprains, bruises and rheumatic pains.
Chamberlain's Tablets for stomach troubles, biliousness and constipation.
By having these articles at hand it would often save the trouble of a trip to town in the busiest season or in the night, and would enable me to treat all ailments as soon as they appear, and thereby avoid the more serious diseases that so often follow. For sale by Eagle Merc. Co.

If—

You want to keep in touch with the livestock interests of New Mexico; if you want to know what your neighbors in other parts of the state are doing, you should subscribe for NEW MEXICO RURALIST.

NEW MEXICO RURALIST is published by the Central Printing Company, publishers of the Albuquerque Evening Herald. It is edited by H. B. Henning, and a staff of men and women who know New Mexico as you know your own home.

NEW MEXICO RURALIST is the only paper published devoted exclusively to rural New Mexico, its livestock, wool, ranch and farm interests and industries. A page of state news, world news, war news; a page for women, a short story, five large pages of real live interesting news of ranch and farm life in New Mexico, all help to make it one of the strongest newspapers in the West.

Last week NEW MEXICO RURALIST went into 10,000 New Mexico homes. It is the largest paper in New Mexico. Its editors have had a close personal relationship with all parts of New Mexico for the past twenty years. It is not a local paper, but is statewide. It is as interesting and as valuable to the man in San Juan or Eddy county, as to the man who lives two miles from Albuquerque.

STEINS ITEMS

A number of families left here for Yuma with the crusher crew. They have nearly all returned and say if the people of Steins would go down to Yuma for a while they would be glad to return to Steins and enjoy the cool nights.

The Making of New Faces is a Miracle.

Mme Maynard Ladd, an American artist, makes new faces for our soldiers disfigured in battle.

"These youthful masks" said Mme. Ladd, "show the features of the soldier who had been wounded. From these moulds, the silver masks are made, or to be exact, masks of copper, silver plated. When finished, they bear a perfect resemblance to the wearer and permit him to live among the living with his deformities absolutely unnoticed. Complete, the masks weigh no more than 120 grams.

The artist handed me a finished mask that had been made for a woman whose face had been badly disfigured by fire. It was so real, almost alive that even in the eyes I could distinguish nothing abnormal save the tiny orifice left for the living pupil. And while I stood there silent, unable to form an opinion or essay a vague compliment, my hostess spoke;

"They are fine, are they not? But it is nothing, for see how lovely, how noble our soldiers are! No, you say much when you say nothing! One who essayed to appear on the street for the first time, wearing his mask, later said to me; 'At last I can go out and they do not stare at me!' " And as if to give proof of her words, two soldiers, horribly disfigured, entered and donned their masks. What transfiguration! One dared not hope for such a miracle. And as they set there before me, smoking, chatting, playing cards, I could not tell, though I scrutinized them carefully, where the metal commenced and the human flesh ceased!"
